How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Canoe Financial has rated the volatility of this Fund as low to medium.

This rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the "What are the risks of investing in the Fund?" section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the Fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you.

Canoe Financial pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the Fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment. The rate depends on the sales charge option you choose.

- Initial sales charge option – up to 1.00% of the value of your investment each year. This equals $10 each year for every $1,000 invested.
- Low-load option† – up to 0.50% for the first three years and 1.00% thereafter based on the value of your investment each year. For the first three years, this equals $5 each year for every $1,000 invested. After three years, it can equal up to $10 each year for every $1,000 invested.

† shares purchased under the Sales Charge option or the Low-Load option prior to the date of these Fund Facts will be subject to the trailer fee schedule in effect at the time of purchase of those shares.
